

DEPARTMENT OF FIRE SERVICES HOMELAND SECURITY SEMINAR

KIDS AND BOMBS

The Massachusetts State Police Fire and Explosion Investigation Section are conducting an 8-hour “Kids and Bombs” seminar. This seminar will include a review of the early warning indicators of a juvenile bomb maker, the current national statistics on juveniles and bombs and the precursors and instrumentalities showcased by the Internet. Participants will be provided with pre- and post- blast investigative techniques from the “Bomb Tech” perspective that will include a discussion of the issue as it relates to educational institutions. The “Bomb Techs” presentation will include static display, a canine and robot demo, and will utilize actual case examples to highlight teaching points.

This seminar will also give participants a “criminal investigators” perspective that will be highlighted by a section on “how to build a case” that incorporates sound investigative principles and juvenile legal issues. This seminar will also have a clinical perspective that examines emotional and behavioral functioning of juveniles engaged in bomb making. What are the considerations when there is a need to identify appropriate mental health or social services?

This seminar is designed for a multi-disciplinary audience to include:

- Public Safety First Responders - Red and Blue teams
- ADA's
- School personnel
- Fire Safety/JFS Educators
- JFS Clinicians
- MA & RI IAAI members
- Probation Officers
- School resource officers
- Case workers
- Educators
